Olina Stathopoulou

olina.stath@nyu.edu • olinastath.com • github.com/olinastath

Education

New York University • May 2018
BA in Mathematics and Computer Science
Minor in Dramatic Literature
GPA: 3.54 out of 4.0

Relevant Coursework:, Linear Algebra, Discrete Math, Data Structures, Real Analysis, Computer Systems Organization, Operating Systems, Numerical Computing, Abstract Algebra, Basic Algorithms.
Fall 2017: Applied Internet Tech, Ordinary Diff. Equations, Theory of Probability.

Skills

Programming: Java, Python, C, MATLAB.

Web: HTML, CSS, JavaScript.

Software / Platforms: Photoshop, Eclipse.

Natural Languages: Fluent in English and Greek; DELF B2 level French.

Interests

theatre and its intersection with technology and other media, film, social media, activism.

Experience

Powers Education Intern
New York, NY • September 2016 – January 2017
• Posted news concerning women and technology daily on the blog.
• Helped develop and maintain website.

Department of Mathematics at the Courant Institute Grader
New York, NY • September 2016 - Present
• Grade 45 students' homework in a Calculus I class (Spring 2017).
• Coordinate with professor and teaching assistant about homework assignments and students' performance in the class.
• Work with four professors to date for classes ranging from Calculus I to Linear Algebra.

InstaEDU Online Tutor
Online • July 2015 - Present
• Tutor student from all over the U.S. in Math and Computer Science.
• Offer last-minute help and regular lessons throughout the semester.

Leadership & Activities

Women and Youth Supporting Each Other (WYSE) Mentor
New York, NY • September 2015 - Present
• Chosen as 1 of 26 women mentors to participate in curriculum-based program offered to middle school girls in under-served communities.
• Mentor at-risk eighth grade girls to make positive, informed choices through one-on-one relationship building and interactive sessions.
• Lead and participate in weekly sessions (12/semester) with the aim of providing a safe, positive space for learning and empowerment.